THE GREAT FRESHET.

EXTENT OF THE DAMAGE IN THE MONON GARELA RIVER REGION.

essels, Wharlboats, Houses and Other Property Carried Away by the Raging Flood-Over $1,000,000 Damage-A Flery Horror-Burned to Death-A Fatal Fall

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 11.—The freshet in the Ionongahela River is almost unprecedented and great damage has been done to the river craft and property all along the river from the regular 25c and 35c goods; 200 headwaters to this city. The suddenness of wares and they were not prepared when the great volume of water burst upon them. Millions of feet of lumber, scores of coal craft, fences, outhouses and coal tipples have been floating down the swift current for the last eighteen hours. The river at this point is still running, with 21 feet 9 inches on the marks at 9 o'clock, but it is reported as stationary with 45 feet at Greensboro, a hundred miles above this city. At every point between Greensboro and Pittsresidents have been compelled to live in the upper stories of their houses, and in some cases to seek the hills for safety. Many foot an hour, and at Greensboro 32 feet of a rise was recorded in less than thinly four bours. The damage to property campto be estimated at present, but it will reach a vay up into the thousands. A solitary barge which broke away yesterday caused over $5,000 damage, and this is but one little item. So far but one life has been reported lost, that of a man named George Getter, who was struck by a parted cable and instantly kiled. The seens along the river front this morning was one of great excitement. The banks were lined with people watching the debris as it was swept down the swift entrent. The river and coal men were on the alert, fearing that their craft would be forn from its moorings and as fast as one cable would snap in twain it would be replaced by another. Occasionally a floating boat, barge or tipple would strike one of the piers of the Smithfield street bridge and with a loud, grating sound sink from view; again the helpless traft would pass the bridge in safety and continue on its journey to Cincinnati. The greatest damage to river craft occurred between 1:30 o'clock this morning and daylight. Shortly before 2 o'clock a large number of barges belonging to Jenkins & Co. came down the river from the second pool and struck the Smithfield street bridge, the huge barges turning end over end and breasting the towboat Barnard in against the steamer Jacobs. Every whistie on the river sounded the alarm, and as the livid rays of the electric lights swept from side to side across the turbulent flood it presented a wild sight. Logs, barges and fuel boats were dashed against the piers of the bridge and anapped it entrent. Half of one of Jenkins' bits lodged against the broken barges came down, a number of pieces of wreckage floated past in the middle of which a shanty boat was swept along with the light on board. The river men shouted and the whistles screamed to get an answer from any person who might be on the boat, but no reply came, and if the owners were on board and asleep, as some of the river men thoug the river men thought, they were swept down to inevitable destruction.

WHARFBOAT SWEFT AWAY.

Later the steamer George Wood broke her moorings above the Yenth street bridge and came drifting down the river, but was finally caught and towed to safe harbor. The ropes that held the half-sunken Clincinnati wharfboat, which the owners had been struggling for twelve hours to save, parted about this time, and the lumbersome craft was quickly swept away. A few minutes later a lot of O'Neil's barges and twenty-six pieces belonging to Joseph Walton & Co. were cut from their moorings and carried down stream.

"Polishtown," located along the bank of the Monongahela River between the foot of South Twenty-second and South Twenty-fourth streets, was in a sorry plight to-day. There Mononganesa River between the loot of South Twenty-second and South Twenty-fourth streets, was in a sorry plight to-day. There are nearly seventy-five shanty boats at that point, occupied by over one hundred and fifty iamilies, aggregating a population of more than five hundred people. All of these with the exception of about a dozen fainlies camped last night. Early yesterday morning the trouble began. All day men, women and children were busy pumping water out of the boats and removing their goods to places of safety. By night ten boat houses had been sunk or capsized and several carried down the river. The families who moved out piled their goods up along the Lake Eric Railroad, and then the men did the best they could to secure the shantles, while the women watched their possessions by the light of wood fires. Little children crawled under pieces of furniture and slept on in bliesful ignorance of the flood and its incumbent cares.

FLEEING FOR SAFETY.

furniture and siept on in bilesful ignorance of the flood and its incumbent cares.

FLERING FOR SAFETY.

On both sides of the river from the point of the bridge to far above the Tenth street bridge scenes of the liveliest description occurred. Many incidents are indicrous and laughable and some serious enough to those who were compelled to be the actors in them, but fortunately none ended in a catastrophe. From the Smithfield street bridge to a considerable distance above the Baltimore & Ohio Depot were a number of boat-houses occupied by families. The sudden rise of the water found these occupants totally unprepared and a goodly number of semi-amphibious dwellers were forced to make a hosty retreat to dry land. The boat-houses that had their foundation on the water or in the mud rode the freshet in safety and kept the feet and possessions of its occupants dry, but those which had been propped high above the sluggish low water had every seam and crack opened by the sun, and when the swiftly flowing waters reached them it rushed in like water through a sieve, and caused the occupants to fee for their lives. They tumbled out beds, tables, chairs, children and babies in the utmost confusion.

The wharf looks like a tenement row on a general moving day. As the waters enencyached upon the banks, the household utensits were removed farther up towards Water street, and since the rise was so very rapid, a number of removals had to be made in a short time. Within a distance of 100 yards there were no less than thirteen little lots of moving, and by each of them sat a woman and a tew children.

$200,000, and it may reach a great deal more. The loss in this vicinity to coal and river men will probably exceed half that amount. The estimates are wild and reach as high as $500, 000. About 11 o'clock a saw-mill, including all machinery, passed down the river. It was swept from Bellevernon, Pa., sixty miles south of this city, and was owned by Capt. Cox, who valued it at $7,000. Early this morning a man with a wagon and team of horses attempted to cross the Ohio River below Sawmill Hun in a flat. When in the middle of the river he lost control of the flat and it was carried down the stream. It is not known whether the man was rescued or not. The telegraph companies report communication entirely cut off with Monongahela Valley points. Grafton, W. Va., reports traffic on the main stem of the Baltimore & Ohio road suspended. Two tunnels are filled to the top with debris.

The West Virginia Storms.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., July 11 .- The storm the many which visited this region during the past week, and the loss of property in a range past week, and the loss of property in a range of twelve counties hereabouts is estimated a $250,000. A bridge worth $40,000 was swept from its moorings here yesterday. All day immense quantities of wheat and timber floated past in a tangled mass. Almost every farm on the valley of the counties adjoining this has been swept clean of its products. The Middle Island The Co. loss 45,000 thes last night valued at $13,500. A number of tresties and bridges on the Columbus & Northern road running into Harmar on the Ohio side are washed away and travel is indefinitely suspended. The Zanesville & Ohio litver road, just put into operation, is badly washed out and it will be several days before travel is resumed. No train has come from the East on the Battmore & Ohio since Monday morning. The town of Salem is entirely under water and families have left their homes.

A Fiery Horror. cases to seek the hills for safety. Many had not time to remove their goods, as the water rose at the rate of a foot an hour, and at Greensboro 82 teet of a rise was recorded in less than thingy four hours. The damage to property cannot be estimated at present, but it will reach away up into the thousands. Nearly all of the members of that committee were present, and the probable selection of officers to be embers of that committee w named to-day was discussed. Everything spoken upon this subject was speculation. Members of the committee who were approached and spoken to on the subject had no forecast to make. The man most prominently spoken of in gonnection with the chairman ship of the committee is Senator Quay. His absence from the meeting is considered as bearing out the probability of his selection. Congressman Bayne of Pannsylvania is at the hotel prepared to act as proxy for Senator Quay. He said this morning that the Quay. He said this morning that the latter was prepared to accept the chairmanship of the National Committee if Harrison desires him to do so. Among others named as probable candidates are John C. New of Indianapolis; J. S. Clarkson of Iowa, and Henry S. Hyde of Massachusetts.

Ex-Senator Platt is most prominently mentioned as Chairman of the Executive Committee. W. W. Durles of Indiana is another candidate. At a few minutes after 12 o'clock the committee went into session in room D R. The proceedings were held, of course, in private, with J. S. Clarkson of Iowas temporary chairman, and Sam Fessenden of Connecticut as temporary secretary. After a session of about half an hour the committee took a recess, having appointed a committee took on candidates for permanent officers, etc.

At Williamsburg, Beck Run, portions of McKeesport, California, Monongahela City, Bellevernon, Brownsville, Fayette City and other towns along the river are reported partiy submerged this morning. The water in some places is above the first floor of the houses, while piles of lumber, timbers and drifts in many cases are jammed against the doors and windows. At various points along the lines of the Pittaburg, Virginia & Charleston and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroads, the tracks are under water and great ("Houlty is euperienced in running trains.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning woth was received that lock No. 4, located a short distance above Monongahela City, had been carried away by the strong current. The loss from this will be very heavy. It is impossible to hear from many points up the river as the telegraph and telephone wires are down, and there is a complete cessation of communication by telegraph or mail. The sudden rise is believed to have been caused by a cloud burst, which covered a large section of Southern Pennsylvania and Western Virginia. Fortunately there was no rise in the Allegheny River. If the high water had come from the anoth also, the flood would have reached a life that the great freshet of 18%. LONDON, July 11.—Up to the moment Mr.
Smith rose last night in the House of Comnons to announce the intention of the Gov ernment in regard to public business, much uncertainty prevailed on the subject. The members who had assembled in great force, anxious to hear the expected statement of the Government, had much difficulty in making up their minds as to an autumn session, although the question had been seriously discussed by the Ministers for more than a week past. Balfour strongly opposed this, as it will make him directly responsible to Parliament during the winter and before the session is over he may be confronted in the Commons by Mr. Dillon. How sensitive Balfour is to public opinion about his resolute policy is shown by the instructions just sent out under ordering that in all important evictions likely to cause comment, reference should be made to divisional Magistrate Callen, before protection is promised. Thus it appears that in evictions not likely to cause comment, the By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

Mrs. Norton to declares, however, that she cannot be taken away from Moore. She will not permit him to leave her even for a few minutes. She addresses him in the most affectionate terms. She is of a very nervous disposition, but this morning she was more nervous and flighty than at any time during her imprisonment. Soon after they had taken breakfast she broke into toars, your correspondent and the officer being in the room at the time. She buried her face in her haddkerchief and then jumping up from her chair suddenly she ran across the room to Moore, who was recilining on the bed and threw her arms around him.

IN THE COURT-ROOM.

Long before 10 o'clock the court-room began to fill up, and by the time the hour had arrived for the eloping couple to appear in court not even standing room remained. It was extremely hot, and the audience, which was packed in so closely, became very noisy. The court waited until 10:20 o'clock, and the officer not having appeared with Moore and Mrs. Norton, the hearing was postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

the hearing was postponed until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

A consultation between Moore and his attorneys caused the delay. Mrs. Norton is being strongly urged to leave Moore and return to her husband at St. Louis. She was visited several times this morning by her old friend, Mrs. Caswell, who has been intimately acquainted with her for years, and who waited upon her during her liness. Mrs. Caswell prayerfully pleaded with her and told her that she had come to take her back to St. Louis. This was all told to her in the presence of Moore, who offered mo objection. Mrs. Caswell remained with her until dinner time talking to Mrs. Norton in a motherly manner, careasing her and appealing to her to return to St. Louis, but Mrs. Norton held out firmly and said she would "stand by Henry."

Marshal entered the room, and she told him whom it was for and what she intended to say in it. She seems not to care in the least for Norton, and speaks of him without a shadow of reserve or feeling. Judge Laughlin had another interview with Mrs. Norton just before dinner in the presence of Moore. He urged her in the strongest language that he could use to return to St. Louis.

"I cannot say," said he at the close, "what the result of our talk will be. I am not acquainted with the lady, having met her for the first time this evening. She is feeling very badly and is greatly perplexed. She expresses regret for having eaused her husband sorrow, not with standing she says he has been cruel to hier. She is also worried about Moore's position and fears that he has laid hunself liable to griminal prosecution. She insists that she is entirely to blame for whatever has been done. Mrs. Norton is not ready to say what she will do. Had they been released this morning they would have been immediately arrested upon the charge; as they were not and the offense with which they or at least one of them is charged in Missouri is a greater one, it is not likely that the warrant will be served unless they are released. A reporter asked Judge Laughlin this morning if he thought there was any doubt about their being able to take Moore back to 8t. Louis. "Not in the least," said the Judge. "I do not think he will be released on habeas corpus, and if he is released there are other ways in which we can hold him."

It is very plain that the St. Louis officers propose to have Moore. He will make a persistent fight against going back, but he will have to go, and, as one of the officers remarked this morning:

"Moore might just as well make up his mind to go without so much trouble about it."

"Idon't have much faith in these habeas corpus proceedings," said Moore to your correspondent this morning. "I have never had very much hope from the start that I was likely to be released by these proceedings, but my attorneys were quite confident that they could not hold me if this step was taken."

"Then you will probably have to go back with the officers?"

"Well, it looks that way, I must admit, My attorneys still think there is a chance to bereleased. If my attorneys would say the word I would be willing to start back this afternoon, for I am quite sick. It will come to that anyway. But, my God, I do hate to return to St. Louis."

A Cold-Blooded Murder.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. HELENA, Ark., July 11.-William Burchard killed Robert Williamson by shooting him through the heart a few miles below the city last night. The murderer and murdered man are both negroes. The murder was the result of a friendly scuffling match. Williamson, in a playful manner, was chasing Burchard down the leves, when Burchard turned on him, drew his pistol and shot him through the heart, killing him instantly. Burchard claimed that the shooting was accidental, but Williamson's brother, the only witness to the killing, says that it was a cold-blooded, deliberate murder. Burchard skipped out immediately after the shooting, but the officers have gone in search of him.

AWYER FAUNTLEROY'S STIRRING APPEAL IN BEHALF OF MAXWELL.

he Attorney Makes a Lengthy Argument Reviewing the Points in the Great Trial— Mrs. and Miss Brooks Attentive Listeners

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 11.—Mr. Fauntie-roy began his argument before the Governor the condemned had had all the advantages of had no fair and impartial trial, and I further believe that your Excellency will never permit a man, whether alien or citizen, to swing from the gallows except upon a verdict upon a fair and impartial trial. The dignity of our against it; the civilization of our age and time stands aghast at the idea of the execution of a nan according to the forms of law whose tria inal brought before the bar of justice.

show that the trial was not a fair one and that Maxwell was denied the privileges which he was entitled to. He then alluded to the state of public feeling against Maxwell, caused in great measure by the influence of the press

MAXWELL WAS AN ALIEN, and not a citizen, and that the chief object was to convict a man who was believed to be guilty of murder the most helnous. There was no person except his young attorneys to stand up in his defense. Maxwell was a stranger with the great ocean separating him from his friends, with no money to employ mistakes have been made in the trial court, have crept in? The speaker, in a beautiful and impressive manner, called attention to the interest that is now being felt throughout the country in favor of commutation. The the country in favor of commutation. The people were changing their views.

'The simple appeal of the old father asking only for justice and not clamoring for mercy, is bringing much fruit as is indicated by the petitions and letters from hundreds of the best lawyers of the State, from farmers, merchants, ministers of the gospel, college presidents, members of Congress, country officers, mechanics, bankers and business men of all syocations, not only in Missouri, but from nearly every State in the Union, and from the home of Maxwell; petitions and letters aggregating nearly five thousand calling upon you to exercise elemency in behalf of the man stand-in the afternoon was devoted chiefly to the Dingfelder episode, and required about one hour's time.

WILL PROBABLY DECIDE TO-DAY.

Mrs. Brooks and daughter were present during the speech and were very attentively listening. The Governor's office was filled and the hall in front crowded with people who listened with marked attention to every word of the attorney. The speech was delivered with ease and earnestness. All the points touched upon were foreibly and clearly presented. The audience was well pleased; in fact it is pronounced on all sides a fine speech. The Governor's pirvate secretary, Mr.
Yantis, complimented it in the highest terms.
After its conclusion the Governor, observing the day of the month on your correspondent's special, remarked, "Well, this is my birthday, and it had not occurred to me until I noted it on your special." Some one suggested that it was singular that he was thus favored with such an eventful day as to be able to commemorate it with one of the most merciful acts of administration, if not of his life.
The Governor only smilled and turned to leave the office. It is understood here that Assistant Circuit Attorner Bishop has written a letter to the Governor remonstrating against a commutation of the sentence. Your correspondent did not see the letter, but he is satisfied of the truth of the rumor. It is believed that the Governor will render his decision upon the conclusion of Mr. Fauntleroy's speech this afternoon.

Miss Annie Ryan is visiting friends in Springfield. Mrs. J. Pfeiffer and daughter leave this evening for Eureka Springs. Miss Gussie Niggeman leaves next week with a party for tirand Haven, Mich.

JOHN GLEASON, a laborer, was found drunk with a out over his left eye on the Levee, he tween Clark avenue and Spruce street this afternoon and was sent to the Dispensary.

'Frisco, after a temporary depression, again came to the front and sold freely at advanced prices. It was reported on the street that a carload of milling ore shipped to Denver had netted $30 a ton after all expenses were paid. This is not the first car shipped, that by some means or other having been lost track of. A tracer has been sent from Philipsburg on its track. The officers of the 'Frisco declined to say whether a carload of ore had been sold in Denver, but also rafused to deny the authenticity of the report, which was generally credited on the streets. Although the net yield proved to be less than had been anticipated by many, the fact that a surplus of any amount remained after paying mining and shipping expenses was regarded as very favorable and the stock rose from $1, at which 100 shares were disposed of on the street, to $1.00, this figure being paid for $600 shares; 500 shares brought $1.07k; 400, $1.05, and 100, $1.02k; the stock closing at $1.00 bid.

Bena, in which little has been done for several weeks, was in sharp demand at advanced prices. Opening at 15, the stock rone to 18%, which was paid for 200 shares. It soon rose to 20, at which over four thousand shares were disposed of and the market closed.

Pat Murphy opened weak, but gradually strengthened, with heavy sales. The market opened at 40, which was paid for 400 shares, rose to 41%, at which 200 shares changed hands; to 42%, 300 shares bringing this figure, and closed at 46, at which 1,100 shares were disposed of.

Cariboo sold on the street at 20, which figure was paid for 1,000 shares. On the floor it was 1742 bid, offered at 2242. Owing to the favorable report of the condi-tion of the lower level, Black Oak strengthened a few points, 25 being paid for 700 shares, and 1014 for 100.

West Granite was 15 bid, offered at 1614.
Three hundred Golden Era brought 85. Cleveland was 3 bid, offered at 4. Jumbo was offered at 20. San Pedro was 30 bid, 324 asked.
Four was offered for I. X. L. Wire Patch was 3742 bid. Silver Age was 30 bid, 35 asked.

The capital stock of the Rayado Mining & Milling Co. has been fully subscribed, and a meeting will be held on July 20, at East St. Louis, for the purpose of electing a board of directors. The Rayado is located in the Argentine Republic.

A new mine has been purchased by St.
Louis capitalists and the formal transfer will be made to-day or to-morrow. The mins is known as the Golden Fark, and is located near the mountain of the Holy Cross in Colorado. It is a gold property of high grade, and considerable development work has already been done. Among the heaviest holders of stock in the new company which has purchased a controlling interest are W. T. Anderson and Ben Barnes. As soon as the transfer is completed a party of those interested will proceed to Colorado, and the work of properly developing the mine will be rapidly pushed forward.

Edgar of the Glendale Zinc Furnaces to persuade that gentleman to pay it the men twice a month instead of once a month. The men up to a recent date were paid bi-monthly, when the pay-day was changed to once a month. The men claim that by this method a great many inconveniences occur.

As the midnight accommodation train was nearing Elwood street last night brakeman Wm. Lacey attempted to awake two soldiers who were lying sound asleep in the amoking car. The shaking failed to wake the men and when Lacey adled out the station one of the men jumped up and struck Lacey afterful blow on the head. Lacey, who is a powerful, big fellow, turned on his opponent and, with a well-directed blow in the face, sent him tumbling to his seat. The other soldiers made things appear very lively for a moment, and were getting the better of the first, when Lacey turned on them and felled them to the floor. Elwood street was reached, and by luck Officer Moore was at the depot. He was called in, and when informed of the occurrence took both men to the police station. They were let off this morning, Lacey not earling to prosecute them.

The converting department of the Western Steel works suspended business last night, throwing nearly three hundred men out of employment. This is the first step of the present operators to suspend business and by to-night the blast furnaces and pig-iron works will also shut down. The rail and blooming departments are still running and will continue to do so until Friday morning when the entire works will close, the present company throwing up all hold on the plant. It is not known how long the plant will remain idle, and as there are numbers of runors circulating around it is hard to know what will be the next move. It was learned to day on good three deputies were deemed sufficient to guard both men, who occupy adjoining cells. Maxwell looked pale and nervous to-day. When his breakfast was brought in to him he laid it to one side and made no attempt to eat. He was anxious for news from Jefferson City and the suspense was telling on him. Last night he received the following telegram:

Application to be argued to-morrow. We are more hopeful than ever. Sentiment of this community strongly favorable.

Jefferson City, July 10.

Jefferson City, July 10.

While this message was decidedly encouraging it did not relieve him of the suspense. He showed the telegram to all who called and evidently derived considerable hope from it. In the morning he spoke of what kind of work he would like to do in the penitentiary. The tailor shop, he thought, would be the best place for him. He imagined he would like it better there. He hoped he would not be placed in the saddle-tree factory, as the work there was very heavy—he understood the heaviest in the prison. The penitentiary authorities ought to gatge a men by his strength and work him accordingly. Small men possessed of little strength should be put in the tailor shop, and big strong men ought to be made to work in the saddle-tree factory and do all the heavier work, as they were better able to stand it. Evidently from his talk, he entertains strong hopes of a commutation of sentence. Along toward 9 o'clock Maxwell engaged Deputy-Sheriff Reardon in AGAME OF DOMINOES.

Maxwell engaged Deputy-Sheriff Reardon in A GAME OF DOMINOES.

The played three games, of which the condemned man won two and his death watch one. Deputy Sheriff O'Connor then tackled him and played for some time. O'Connor was more successful and held his own better. But Maxwell's interest was not centered on the game. That was apparent. He was anxiously awaiting intelligence from Jefferson City, and while his remarks were of a pleasant character, his heart was not in what he spoke. About his case the little foreigner was voiceless.

was quite different. He sat near the door of his cell smoking his corn-cob pipe as he has done day after day. Neither by act nor appearance did he display any realization of how close he was to death. He had not even heard of the Sheriff having refused to grant a jury to inquire into his mental condition until a Post-Disparch reporter told him this morning. The news produced no visible effect on him however. When told that one of his attorneys, Mr. Bass, intended moving the Court to compel the Sheriff to summon a jury, Landgraf muttered: "That's a good move."

"I forget."
"Does Father Tihan, the Roman Catholic priest who attends to the jall, visit you?"
"Yes; he comes up almost every day."
"And do you receive communion?"
"Yes."
"Whether real or assumed, Landgraf's talk is certainly very rambling and queer, and his actions are just as peculiar. To all appearances he is just the same now as he has always been since his confinement, and the fact that he is to hang Friday does not appear to worry him particularly.

MR. BASS,
one of his attorneys, thinks the Oriminal Court

one of his attorneys, thinks the Criminal Court can make the Sheriff summon a jury to inquire into a doomed man's mental condition and says he will make application to Judge Normile, either to-day in chambers or to-morrow in open court, to order the Sheriff to summon the jury. Mr. Bass is rather indignant that the Sheriff should pay so little attention to the formal application made yesterday by himself and associate counsel, Mr. Lodge, for the jury. He says the five affidavits submitted by them certainly made out a prima facie case and that this was all that was necessary. If the jury declared the man insane, the public would be spared the horrible spectacle of seeing an insane man hanged, and if he was not insane justice would not suffer by the hearwould be spared the horrible spectacle of seeing an insane man hanged, and if he was not insane justice would not suffer by the hearing; the man could be hanged. As it is the Sheriff has placed himself in the attitude of an expert and held that whatever others may think, he knows Landgraf is not insane. Mr. Lodge does not like having been refused the jury either, but he seems to think that they are powerless to compel the Sheriff to appoint one. He does not think the court has power to interfere and issue an order of that kind to the Sheriff, although the latter is an officer of the court. There is a statute which says that the court or Governor may delay an execution for good cause, but it does not state it can compel the Sheriff to appoint such a jury.

ompel the Sheriff to appoint such a jury.

THE DEMAND FOR TICKETS to the execution of Maxwell has been very great. Sheriff Harrington has always adhered prestry strictly to the law in these matters and permitted very few people to witness them.
Mr. Fauntleroy has said that if Maxwell has to hang he will notify the Sheriff to admit no one except those permitted by law and will see that there are no others admitted. Fifteen witnesses, the Coroner's jury, the necessary deputy sheriffs, the officials of the court and the newspaper reporters will be the only people admitted, at least so Deputy Sheriff Joe Harrington States. Already preparations are on foot for the double execution. The rickety gallows is to be fixed up so that the old structure will be able to send two more souls to kingdom come, and the Sheriff is selecting his deputies to assist in the execution. Bob Humphreys, the old-time hangman, is seen about the Four Courts building, but it is the general impression that Deputy Sheriff Mike Fortin, who made such a neat job of Alfred Blunt, the little hunchback negro, will be the executioner. There is a strong feeling, however, that the Governor may commute Maxwell's sentence, and if he does the Circuit Attorney's office will ask for similar action in Landgraf's case, which they claim is not so helmous an offense.

A Man Held Responsible Who Is Not Under Arrest.

An inquest was held this morning on the body of Michael Cohen, who died at the City Hospital Sunday afternoon from the effects of a fracture of the skull, caused by being struck on the head with a brick ing struck on the head with a brick or some other similar article on the night of July 3. The testimony showed that he and Edward Condon entered a saloon on Cass avenue, between Eleventh and Twelfth streets, and quarreled about paying for drinks. They got into a fight, and when they had been separated Cohen walked out. Condon followed and struck him on the head with something which tore off the scalp. At the time the injury was not considered so serious, but on the morning of the 6th he was sent to the hospital unconscious and remained in that condition until he died. Condon was arrested a few days ago and released on bond and has not since been re-arrested. The jury held him responsible for Cohen's death.

A freight and passenger train collided, but fortunately no one was killed and only one person injured. The Oak Hill and Carondelet Road connects with the Missouri Pacific main line at that station and it was a freight train of the Oak Hill Road which collided with the incoming Kirkwood accommodation passenger train of the Missouri Pacific. The locomotive of the passenger train ran into the freight train, throwing three of the Carsoff the truck. The cow-catcher of the Kirkwood locomotive was badly demolished, and the passengers received quite a shaking up. One of them was slightly injured. The exact amount of damage done is not known.

THE MAYOR REFUSES WELCOME TO IRON-

Session of the Iron-Molders' Union of North America at Druids' Hall To-Day-Business Before the Union-A Uniform Scale of Molders' Waggs to Be Formu lated by Employers and Men-Procee

The eighth biennial session of the Iron morning at Druids' Hall. The national union is designed to forward the interests of the iron-molders of the country, but has never in its history, Secretary Martin Fox expected to be able to tell them this evening never in its history, Secretary Martin Fox says, taken any part in the quarrels between the men and their employers on the matter of wages. The entire wage question has been left to the local unions for regulation. The national union has existed to bind together these locals, and for their sustenance in time of need. The session begun this morning will extend over five or six days it is thought, but there are no governmental questions of importance to come before the body. THE MAIN MATTER to be considered will probably be the ap-pointment of a committee to confer with a committee appointed by the Manufacturers The manufacturers in the appointmen of its committee for conference specified as its object the arrangement of

The manufacturers in the appointment of its committee for conference specified as its object the arrangement of a schedule of wages to be paid molders throughout the country. The union has not been officially informed that the manufacturers have taken that step, indeed the only information comes from George S. Wiggens, a representative from Milwaukee, Wis., who obtained his information from a member of the firm of Brandt & Co. of Milwaukee, members of the Manufacturers' Association. It is expected, however, that an official communication will be received from the Secretary of the Manufacturers' Association, on the receipt of which a committee for conference will probably be appointed. There promises to be some lengthy discussion as to instructions to that committee on the subject of the wage scale, and as to the binding effect of any agreement that may be entered into without the ratification of SUCH AGREEMENT by the convention of the Iron-molders' Union. As the union does not meet but once in two years this point will need to be provided for.

The Laclede office was filled with the representatives this morning. The national organization is composed of local unions which send representatives to the shallow of the provided for.

There were over one hundred representative for every 100 members or fraction of that number. There were over one hundred representatives registered at President P. J. Fitzpatrick's headquarters in room 25 at the Laclede this morning, and the Credentials Committee when it met found there were about one hundred and fity representatives present.

When President Fitzpatrick's gavel fell at about 10:30 o'clock there were present the following officers: The Secretary, Martin Fox of Covington, Ky.; Assistant Secretary, Martin Fox of Covington, Ky.; Assistant Secretary, and the committee when the union is not in session. The opening of the convention was brief. The business following was also brief, as it consisted simply in the appointment of a Committee on Credentials and adjournment till an

We did not think it would be necessary to do anything but ask the Mayor to come over from the City Hall, and he would be willing to do it. We didn't want him for any political reasons. We wanted him to come as Mayor and welcome the representatives to the city. So Mr. Carr went to him and asked him if he would come. He said he would and we thought no more about it. The Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis protested against the invitation. The local molders' unions send three representatives to the Trades and Labor Union. So they take an interest in our affairs. Some one proposed a resolution that we be requested to withdraw our invitation, and get some other man to make the welcoming address. The reason given was the Mayor had not enforced the eight-hour law as it applied to city employes, particularly laborers on the streets. The resolution was passed, and the Mayor heard of it. Yesterday Mr. Carr and myself went to his office to make sure he would be over this morning, and he surprised us very much by telling; us he thought we didn't want him and had made other arrangements. We told him we had not regarded the action of the Trades and Labor Union was final and as we had not informed him to the contrary he acted on it."

D. Castleman Webb Wants $400 From Arlie

D. Castleman Webb, the lawyer, has instituted proceedings against the ball tosser, Walter Q. Latham, to recover $400 he claims due for legal services in two of Mr. Latham's difficulties with his wives. Mr. Webb took the stand this morning in Justice Spaiding's court and said that he had been called upon by Latham shortly after his marriage with his first wife, Latham wanted to get away from her at any cost. He consulted with Webb, who put a detective on the case to hunt out the woman's character and discover what her conduct had been in the East before she was married to Latham. The investigation proved that her character was not of the best, so Webb advised Latham not to do anything in the courts but leave things as they were until Mrs. Latham, they be a consulted them and explained what he had found out about Mrs. Latham, they persuaded her to agree to a settlement without bringing the matter into the court. This relieved Latham of considerable expense in the way of fees' for his wife's attorney and alimony and Mr. Webb thought $250 a moderate charge. The other $150 was for services in an attachment suit against Latham in which Mr. Webb defended him. D. Castleman Webb, the lawyer, has insti-

THE INTERESTS AND PLANS OF THE PARTIES IN THE POLL-BOOK FIGHT.

I-Francis Men Unexpectedly Take Sid With the Becorder and Favor the Acceptance of His Offer—A Measure of the Strength of the Gubernatorial Candidates in the City Committee—The Selection of a New Republican Committee Promises to Cause a Row-A Prohibition Rally-Political Notes.

The Democratic City Committee will meet how the committee might obtain the free use and full title to a set of books, but the Re-publican members of the House of Delegates voted together last evening and defeated the bill providing for the sale of the so-called surplus books. Speaker Bannerman, who was relied on to vote for the passage of the bill, is not in the city, and the full Democratic vote could not be polled. Delegate Charles Nolan, the representative of the Union Labor party in the lower branch of the Municipal Assembly, holds the key to such situations, and last night voted with the Republicans. To-day the Democratic mem bers decided to make another effort to save the bill. If the necessary number of votes can be secured, the action of last night will be

It is now beginning to dawn on some of the Democrats that there is a lack of unanimity on this subject. Several of the committeemen have announced that as far as they are concerned they will vote to use the October books of the School Board and will op pose at all times the proposition by Recorder Williams, who offers to furnish the books provided the committee will pay the wages of a Recorder's clerk to be custodian of the books at each polling place. A significant fact is that the anti-Francis men significant fact is that the anti-Francis men are quietly using thier influence to prevail upon the committee to accept the Recorder's offer, though they are not any more friendly to that official than their opponents. This turn indicates two things. They evidently regard the Francis forces in the committee as strong, and that if the primary election is held without books and the protecting presence of Mr. Williams' appointees they will use their strength unmoreifully at the primary election. It was reported some time ago that Mayor Francis would use his influence to induce the committee to accept the use of the books under the conditions offered by the Recorder, but no action looking to that end has yet been taken by His Honor.

The managers of the Republican City Committee have been keeping the members apart mittee has been held since the issue of the call for the State Convention, May 17. The committee managers are anxious to have smooth salling until plans are matured for the fusing into one committee the present double-barreled body of twenty-eight men. The committee was elected in August two years ago, and its term will regularly expire next month. Filey is now in New York and no action will be taken until he returns to superintend the capture of the city machine. At the election in August only twenty-eight members will be selected, and as the Filley men are determined to be completely and unquestionably in control the old members who consented to take in the bolters will be slaughtered. This will probably cause another break in the organization. The old committeemen who opposed the amalgamation will probably be the first victims and after them, if it is found necessary, the men who turned over the regular organization to the bolters will have to go to make room for more trusted aids. mittee has been held since the issue of the

Pike County Democrats

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. Vandalia, Mo., July 11.—Hon. Champ Clark, Democratic nominee for representative of Pike County, addressed the Vest Democratic Club at McPike's Hall in this city last night. A crowd was in attendance to hear him. The club was organized a few weeks ago with nearly one hundred members, and is rapidly increasing. Senator Vest, in honor of whom the club is named, is expected to address it some time during the summer.

Last night was cool, and to-day began with the temperature at 67.5 at 5 o'clock. The Signal Service observers read 71 at 7 o'clock, 76 at 9 o'clock, 80 at 11 o'clock and 82 at noon. There was a range of 14.5 degrees in seven hours, from light overcoats to vestless discomfort. The probability is that to-morrow will be slightly warmer, though there is a high barometer area to the west of St. Louis that may prevent any rise and keep the temperature about stationary. As the heat of a few days ago was general throughout the country, the cool weather following was general, and the whole country now seems to be participating in the warming up. The readings of Aloc's thermometer on the street level to-day were as follows: again. There was not a wonderful rise

The St. Louis Cable & Western Co. is again before the Mayor as an applicant for a per-mit, in anticipation of legislation, to permanently locate its tracks on Grand avenue year ago the company obtained such a permit to lay a double track on the steam division. The necessary ordinance, in anticipation of which the permit was issued, was never secured, but the company nevertheless refused to remove the track. They have since received further time to reason with the Assembly. This deters the officials from acting too readily on the second request. It is now claimed that the change asked for is to accommodate the residents in the vicinity of the Grand avenue curve as much as the company. The company has, with some assistance from the neighboring property-holders in the shape of a bonus, acquired the title to the property at the southeast corner of the streets and is, it is claimed, now ready to remove the house in order to get a straight line across Grand avenue if the permit will be issued. year ago the company obtained such a per-

THE situation of Mr. PARNELL in the House of Commons presents features which appear strangely unjust to those not accustomed to English political methods. The Irish leader has been accused of grave crimes by a privileged officer of the Crown, in a libel suit with which he had no connection, and yet he is unable to meet the charges. The Government refuses to prosecute him, to order an investigation, or even to give him an opportunity to clear himself. This appears such an unworthy and dishonorable use of power on the part of the ruling party that in this country it would create an overwhelming public opinion in favor of the victim, which would prove disastrous to his persecutors. The English people appear to sanction unfairness in politics which would not be tolerated in America.

THE German doctors charge that FRED ERICK's disease was cancer, and that MACKENZIE's management of the case was in effect a conspiracy to sacrifice the patient's life for the sake of securing him a brief reign and the power to provide for his wife and daughters. But their promptness in proclaiming his disease cancer, a disease so notoriously incurable as to bar him from the throne, seems to have been distrusted by FREDERICK himself as part of a conspiracy to prevent his accession. As he had no faith in their ability to cure him of cancer, he preferred distinguished doctor not wedded to the interest of his son and BISMARCK, and willing to testify that the symptoms of cancer were not conclusive. From certain reported admissions, MACKENZIE himself may be prepared to concede that the disease was cancer and that the diagnosis of the German physicians is vindicated by the result, but doubtless he is provided with documents from FREDERICK and VICTORIA to vindicate his professional honor and to show that he kept faith with the patient and was no more controlled by "reasons cians could be induced to settle their of state" than the German doctors. This American law can in no way bind the Duke, who is an English courts. English law upon this subject is decisive. MARSHALS OF THE COURTS.

How They Use Usurped Power and Crippi the Police Force.

"I wish that people could understand," said a police officer to a POST-DISPATCH re efforts to secure the arrest and detention of eriminals by certain court officials. If they did so there would be less complaint directed against the police of the manner in which known thieves and did so there would be less complaint directed against the police of the manner in which known thieves and thurs are allowed to go at large, and the responsibility would be placed where it belongs. I do not refer to the judges, although some of these are most unfortunately have in the manner in which they treat originals, but to officers occupying a much lower position, the marsials of the various criminal courts. This is an office of the existence of which many citizens are entirely ignorant, but in the way in which it is run here it is one of the most influential, and presumably lucrative, positions that can be held by any inhabitant of St. Louis. Originally established as a mere executive office, its occupants have gradually extended their authority until to-day they, in minor cases, at least, act as it they had the power of judge, jury and Governor combined. If a prisoner charged with any offense short of felony is placed in their charge they have assumed and exercise the authority of pronouncing on his guits or innocence and turning him loose without a trial if for any reason it seems best for them to do so. During the last year or two they have overstepped the boundaries formerly established, and release felons as freely as those charged with mere breaches of the peace. Not long age two negroes were arrested under the charge of assault with intent to kill. One of them was held, but the other who, when in the patrol wagon boasted that he could not be held, was turned loose by the Marshai within two days, although he was known to be one of the worst thugs and robbers in the city. What is the use of arresting a man when every officer knows that he possesses sufficient influence, of one kind or another, to secure his release without a trial? I have arrested men of whose guitt there could not be the shadow of a doubt, and within twenty-four hours I have seen them on the street corners grinning derisively at me. I tell you that kind of thing discourages a police officer, while the parties really responsible, the

A GREAT BEIERSS.

Much interest has been excited in Scotlan. by the announcement that Miss Nisbet Hamilton of Biel and Archerfield, who is, probably the greatest belress in Britain, is engaged to be married to Henry Ogilvey, second son of Ogilvey of Inverguharity, who represented Dundee for many years as a Liberal in old Palmerstonian days. Both bride and bridegroom are well advanced toward middle age. Miss Hamilton can count her rejeted suitors by dozens, and among them was a German Prince who has since married a member of the royal family. She inherited an estate of 16,000 acres in East Lothian from her nother, Lady Mary Nisbet Hamilton, to whom this property came from her moth Elgin, who was the heiress of Mr. Nisbet o noted Sybarite in his day. Miss Hamilton also

A FINE SPECIMEN OF MANHOOD.

Mr. Mandeville, who has just died, struct e when I last met him, about ten month ago, as one of the finest specimens of man od that I ever saw. He was a genial, cheer opinion upon the rack-renting of Countess Kingston, at Mitchelsfown, where he lived, and s for coming forward in support of the tenants in their re-sistance to what, it is now admitted, was an intolerable rent, he was consigned to prison. He came out a broken man, for it would seem that he was treated with exceptional severity and to this ill treatment his death was due. There ought to be a coroner's inquest at once and the scoundrels who killed him should be summoned and forced to testify

London inry, for it would be pos a conspiracy against him. But so long as the Times declines to do this, the issue would depend upon mere assertion on one side or the that it would be extremely improbable that Parnell would obtain justice. In challenging Mr. Parnell to take the opinion of a London jury, the Times is well aware that it is challenging him to a game of cogged dice. It is a curious fact that while members of the House of Commons are not paid, the re-verse is the case in the House of Lords. At every change of ministry there is a scramble for paying court offices among the lords, and it is notorious that without this bait it would be impossible to induce a sufficient number of peers to serve on committees and take part in the current business of legislation. On Salisbury's accession to office I footed up the amount of salaries distributed among the Tory peers. The sum was a little over £20,000 a year. The state of things therefore is this: The peers are paid for legislating and the

THE WELCH BRIBERY CASE.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11.—The rulings of law in the Anarchist case by Judge Gary, that sont Spies and his comrades to the gallows, in the Anarchist case by Judge Garg, that sent Spies and his countrades to the gallows, were turned to-day by another Chicago Judge, Kirk Howes, sgainst the agents, attorneys and chief officials of one of the wealthiest corporations in the country. The offense in this case was attempted jury bribing, and the main offender, Sumner C. Welch, claim agent of the Chicago City Railway, is sentenced to a term behind prison bars, while C. B. Holmes, president of the company, and C. M. Hardy, the company's attorney, are recommended to be dealt with by the Grand-jury. Judge Howes holds that the conspiracy rulings in the Anarchist case applies as well to any other conspirators. In rendering his decision this moraing he sent when to the conspirators of affirmative act or be present when it was done, if they in any way added or abetted, and that if they did so aid or abet, they were as guilty as the actual eriminal. The question as to whether Holmes and Hardy actually did abet, he left to the Grand-jury, recommending that body to investigate their cases.

The citations of the Anarchist rulings by Judge Howes are voluminous, referring several times directly to the case by name, "Spies et al. vs. the People." The Chicago City Railway is perhaps the largest corporation of the kind in the country. President Holmes is a very prominent and wealthy elitisen, and Attorney Hardy is a leading member of the bar, The bribery was in an insignificant little damace sait against the company. Welch approaching one of the jurors asmed Rosenthal during acourt recess, and endeavoring to retain by money his services in the interest of the company. Rosenthal indignantly refused, voted for the sighest verdict against the corporation, and afterward exposed the business to the attorneys for the plantiff. The matter, small in itself, raised a storm of public opinion and brought our much evidence tending to show that the company's course in this case was thoroughly systematic and had been pursued for years in other litigation, particularly whenever t lar way, to a long term at hard labor in the penitentiary.

Judge Howes' decision is of extraordinary length and if printed in full would cover more than an entire page of an ordinary newspaper. It is mostly made up, however, of an analysis of the testimony. In this portion Judge Howes is extremely clear and painstaking. The gist of the decision was stated by him in a few strong sentences near the conclusion. "There are few crimes more dangerous to the good order of society than jury bribling and subornation of perjury. We punish with death those who openly attempt to overthrow the existing order of society by violence. Shall we not put forth every effort to restrain those who secretly and by indirect methods seek to undermine the chief cornerstone of our social fabric?"

THE CABLE WAR.

An Amicable Agreement Reached by the

NEW YORK, July 11 .- Wall street was stirred anew yesterday with a revival of the reports before the Stock Exchange opened, and men with opportunities to gain inside information vouched for it. The effect on the stock market was instantaneous. Not only securities like Western Union Telegraph stock advanced in price, but the improved feeling spread all over the list, and the Stock Exohange had a day of buoyancy such as has not been experienced in months. Dispatches from London appeared later in the day, confirming the reports current in Wall Street, and few people presumed to doubt the trath of the story till in the afternoon "official" denials began to creep out. George J. Gould said what everybody in Wall Street already knew that "there have been negotiations for a settlement of the cable war," but he added, "nothing has been concluded yet although an announcement is likely to be made at any time." vouched for it. The effect on the stock mar-inquest at once and the scoundrels who killed him should be summoned and forced to testify as to what occurred when he was in their clutches. They would probably attempt to evade their responsibility after the manner of keepers in the lunatic asylums who have broken the ribs of some patients. Under the cross-examination some portion of the truth may be elicited.

THE "TIMES" PARNELL LETTERS.
Let the Times now disclose how and from whom the forged letters were obtained. Then doubtless Parnell would go even before a London jury, for it would be possible to prove about to be accommodated. We certainly put no obstacle in the way of a fair and equitable readjustment of rates."

One of the directors of the Western Union Company said: "The cable war is settled, and most of the contracts involved have been executed. Mr. Mackay and Mr. Gould have reached a full and satisfactory understanding with one another, and the fight that has cost lots of money all around is to be abandoned. Rates will be advanced, or notice of an advance will be given, at least, by the lath inst. You can expect the 12½-cent rate to be doubled to begin with. It will be 40 cents very soon. You may consider this information as practically official."

CHICAGO, Ill., July 11 .- General Manager E. T. Jeffrey of the Illinois Central left for Jack-son, Miss., last evening to have a conference with the Railroad Commissioners of Mississippi regarding the freight rates put in effect by the commission about a year ago. When these rates were put in effect the Illinois Central accepted them under protest and demanded that they should be revised, as it could not make expenses on those rates and would be compelled it to reduce its interstate rates correspondingly. The commissioners having failed to take any action in the matter, the Illinois Central a short time ago set aside the commissioners' traiff and adopted rates of from 30 per cent to 50 per cent higher than the State tariff. The State authorities threaten to institute suits against the Illinois Central, and Mr. Jeffrey's mission is to convince the commission that his company was compelled to advance the rates, as it could not live at the rates established by the commission.

Mena's mother was at his house when he returned. This was during the latter part of last week. Mother and daughter were sisting together with happiness deploted on their faces when he entered. Then there was a dramatic scene. The lady sprang to her feet with a look of intense excitement on her face and exclaimed: "Who is this man?"
"Why, mother, this is my husband," replied Mena.

and excitained: "Who is this man?"

"Why, mother, this is my husband," replied Mena.

"Your husband, child," screamed her mother, with a look of horror, "and he is my husband, too. My God! you have married your own father, Mena."

Throwing up her bands and giving utterance to a terrible scream. Mena fell to the floor in a dead faint. She was in a state howering between life and death for some days and during that period her babe came into the world. Her mother was her constant attendant and Waldorf kept at a distance from the two creatures whose lives he had blasted.

Twenty years ago Waldorf is said to have married Mena's mother while he was a soldler in the German army. Two months after the wedding he forsook her, deserted from his regiment and escaped to this country. He had been here about six years when he again married. This wife died, leaving him the three children to whom Mena became so quickly attached. His first wife changed her name after he deserted her and took up her abode in Vienna. Mena was born there and was never told about her father, except that he was dead. As for her, Waldorf, it may be said, never knew until his wife stood before him and proclaimed the fact that he had any children but those with whom he had been living before Mena came into his house.

"Now it is not true that I know these parties and have advised them to seek the counsel of Grand Rabbi Jacob Joseph of Wilne, Russian Poland," said Rabbi Pulvermacher. "I simply know that the story was told me by another whose name I do not know. I don't see what good the Grand Rabbi or anybody else could do the poor girl. Under the Jewish law there has not been a legal marriage, but it was a marriage under the laws of this country."

he Condition of Yuestan; Its Possibilities and Disadvantages-A Wild Country Given Over to Indians and Outlaws-Where the Old Artee Superstitions Still Flourish—The Befuge for Criminals of the Mexican Peninsula—A Lawless Land and Its Inhabitants—Beminiscences of the Mexican War From a Veteran-Why Americans Won.

Carleton A. Edwards of Tucson, Aris. tended trip through Northeastern Mexico and Yucatan. Mr. Edwards, who is over 70 years of age, and a veteran of Taylor's army, was been in the Lindell corridors by a Post-Disparch reporter, and asked as to the condition of affairs in the provinces which he had visited. "It is the first time I have been in Mexico since 1847," said Mr. Edwards, "and the first trip I ever made to Yucatan. I only penetrated the west-ern borders of that province in search of mines, and came to the conclusion that until the country was much more developed it would be useless to attempt mining operations except near the coast.

DWELLERS IN YUGATAN.

"Few people have any idea what a wild and primitive country Yucatan is. It is nominally under Mexican rule, but is practically an independent sort of No-Man's land, without either law or government. The population is mostly Indian, and the old Astec blood is found there in greater Astee blood is found there in greater purity than anywhere else on the Maxican Peninsula. To visit Yucatan is like going back two hundred years, as the old habits, customs and superstitions of the aboriginal races are found there nearly intact. Of source this does not apply to the country contiguous to the few avenues of commerce, or the vicinity of the Maxican settlements. But in the hilly and wooded back country, where many of the inhabitants have never seen a white face, the indians remain in much the same condition they were two centuries ago.

their the Mexicans never could bring the to face the cold steel, and whenever the onet line, no matter how short and thing a seen within fifty yards of them they would sreak and run. To this, and to this alone, did we owe our success in Northern Mexico, but under present conditions a company cannot send two or three regiments flying by the threat of a bayonet charge, and our next war, if it ever comes, will require much more nearly equal forces than those with which we overran Mexico in 1847. No mere advance guard of less than 8,000 men can even again best down all opposition and capture the capital, but the struggle, although not doubtful, will require much greater forces."

AT THE GARDENS. The "Beggar Student" Scores a Hit at the Cave-Other Attraction

The melodious operas which are familiar seem to be even more popular than the new operas. At least that is the evidence of the audience at the Cave last evening, where "The Beggars Student" was produced by the Conreid English Opera Co. The audience was one of the largest of the season, and the opera made an immense hit, the members of the cast being compelled to repeat nearly all of the gems. The work is a beautiful one, perhaps the best of Milloceker's. It is full of entertaining action and melodious and charming music. The cast was exceptionally strong, every member of the company seoring a success. Miss Jennie Reiffurth made an axcellent Countess. Miss Louise Bianchi took the part of Laura with hey usual vim, eleverness and good singing and Miss Celia Ellis made a hit in Bronisiava, her singing of "Oh. Mamma," after the manner of the shy little maid and with a cute baby waddle at the close, being enthusiastically encored. Phil Branson made his first appearance with the company as Jointzky and seored a success, while Joseph Herbert was a comfeal Ollendorf and E. W. Hoff sang finely in the part Symon. Joseph Greensfelder's song as Enterich was spiendidly sung and received, and little Hanche Nichols did elever work as Lieut. Poppenberg. The production was very handsomely costumed. It promises to enjoy a big success this week. The melodious operas which are familia

The fact that this is the last week of "Pina-fore" at the Kensington is having the effect of making the audiences at this pleasant resort larger than ever. The opera is going finely to enthusiastic appliance. The lady iencers are also winning high favor, and the week with good weather cannot fall to be the best of the season.

The "Grand Duchess" at Schnaider's Garden is drawing good audiences and is giving them pleasant entertainment. The promenade concert after the performance is a feature much enjoyed by the people.

legraph to the Post-Dispatch. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 11 .- A private letter from Arkansas City, Ark., says: "Julius Amos, accused of larceny, was recently ar-Amos, accused of larceny, was recently arrested by Officer George Fletcher, who, with his prisoner, got into a skiff, intending to cross the river from the Mississippi side. After getting in the boat Amos became stubborn and refused to row. By this time the boat was some distance from the shore and the officer could not put aside his weapons without placing himself in the power of his prisoner. They began drifting down the river. The officer placing his pistols on the seat, selzed the oars, when Amos sprang on him and grabbed one of the weapons. A struggle ensued, the pistol being discharged once. The officer succeeded in wrenching it from Amos and fired at him, wounding him in the arm. Night had failen, and the fight was resumed in the darkness, Amos grappling with the officer. The tiff was at length overturned, throwing the men into the river. Fletcher was caught in the current and swept down stream, but caught some vines and succeeded in saving his life. Amos has not been heard of, and is believed to have drowned.

THE ELKS.

Important Business Before To-Day's Session of the Grand Lodge. NEW YORK, July 11.-The delegates consti rotteins the Grand Lodge of the Banevoiest Protective Order of Elks, who were in convention yesterday, spant last evening in various places of amusement. To-day's session was opened at 10 o'clock this morning by Chairman Leech. During the day there will be an elaborate scheme presented by the Philadelphia Lodge for the creation of a Supreme Grand Lodge. By this is means that the smaller lodges shall eleet delegates to a State convention or Grand Lodge, which shall in turn sleet the delegates of the Supreme Grand Lodge. This is such a wide divergence from the present mode that it is likely to be defeated. The all-important feature of the year's convention will be the bringing up of the migratory scheme, or plan for holding the convention at a different place each year. This is the burning question wish the Western members, and the wire pulling for votes on the scheme will only be exceeded by the workers connected with the various political machines. These men claim that it is not fair to make them journey eastward every year, and will make a strong light to carry their point. Heretofort the delegates from New York, Pennsylvania and other Eastern States have been able to nip in the bud anything looking to the migratory plan outlined. The result of the contest over the question is looked for with interest in all parts of the country.

A GOOD DAY, WITH SALES AND TRANSFERS IN ABUNDANCE.

the Agents Rejoice Very Loudly—Sales Made and Prices Obtained—The Prize Awarded for "Elmwood Park."

Although interrupted at times by the dull are away enjoying themselves at pleasure re-

Yesterday the deed to a piece of unimproved Grand avenue property, which represents a $36,000 transaction, was passed between the principals and filed for record. The ground conveyed belonged to Dr. John bell. It has a frontage of 118 feet by of 398 on the east line of Grand A.C. commencing at a point 100 feet of the Bock Church, a very eligible le the state of the has long since been looked upon having the merit of much future appreciation by reason merit of much future appreciation by reason of many substantial and costly improvements, both of a public and private character, that have lately been erected on the ter, that have lately been erected on the avenue in near proximity to the section described, the new High School being one of the proposed improvements for that locality. John E. Burson of Muncie, Ind., is the purchaser. This gentleman has here-tofore invested heavily in St. Louis real estate, and this latest acquisition of his can only be regarded as evidence of the success of his previous ventures in the local field of real property speculations. So far Mr. Burson has not earned the fame of being a builder in this city, but it is understood that he has bought the Grand avenue site for improvement, his designs, however, in that direction, having not yet been stated for publicity.

WIM. C. Wilson & Co. say the inquiry for residence sites at Benton indicates that property there is not only in demand, but increasing in value. As evidence of this the firm reports the sale of George Roger's six-room frame cottage, with 98x123 feet of ground in Rogers's subdivision, for $2,000 to Catherine Reily, who is going to make the cezy little place her home.

A PAYING INVESTMENT,
Vallat & Vogel negotiated the sale of a very remanerative piece of tenement property, consisting of the double brick flat building of twelve rooms numbered 2611 and 2613 Howard street, the lot it stands on having a frontage of 30 by a depth of 140 feet. The premises now renting at the rate of 5028 per annum, belonged to Patrick Carroll, who has conveyed his title to Mrs. Anna G. Eberhard for $5,900 cash. This purchase may be cited as an example of the remunerative character of well-appointed residence property in 8t. Louis.

SELING AND BUILDING IN CHAMBERLAIN.
Chamberlain Park continues to be held in favor not only by parties who want to build homes there, but by speculators also. A deed to a 100 foot lot from George, B. Dodge to Henry E. Roach, the architect and builder, at $40 a foot, has been filed for record. Mr. Dodge negotiated the sale of the ground himself, it being a portion of several hundred feet which he owns there. The property has a depth of 165 feet on the north side of Maple avenue in block $685, between Union and Bell avenues, where Mr. Roach intends building an attractive dwelling that will compare favorably with other present and prospective handsome improvements in that charming residence place.

J. E. Greffet has filed for record the deed to 25x120-foot tot on the north side of Lasalle other present and prospective handsome improvements in that charming residence place.

J. E. Greffet has filed for record the deed to a 25x120-foot lot on the north side of Lasalle street, between Cardinal and Compton avenues, from himself to P. H. Hahl, the consideration being $20 a foot. He also reports the sale of Ferdinand Meyer's dwelling, a brick of seven rooms with 15x80 feet of ground, numbered 2720 North Eleventh street, for $2,500 to Louis Kuehner.

GRANITOID WALKS ON OLIVE STREET.

Theophile Papin, who is thoroughly identified with many public improvements in different parts of the city, and a gentleman who takes special pride in the excellent record Olive street has made in becoming the most celebrated retail thoroughfare in the city, says that yesterday he counted twenty-sight different places on Olive street between Thirteenth and Grand avenue where stone and granitoid pavement has just been, or is now being iaid in compliance with the special ordinance. The aggregate length of these respective jobs is about 3,700 feet. In addition to these he knows of contracts for 1,300 feet more which the contractors are too much crowded to commence at once.

Those immense receipts of new wheat fail to materialize. Only 21,000 bu came in to-day, of which only were 1,400 sacks from the lower river.—Another "Tony Faust curb" was held yesterday evening. Wheat was very weak, though beer was very strong on this curb, and August wheat was very strong on this curb, and August wheat was soid as low as 78½, while puts could not be bought at 75½, while puts could not be set for an appropriate and home deliveries were that much in excess of consumptive requirements.—"Corner rule" discussions are all the rage now, and arguments for and against are heard on every hand. The feeling is growing rather warm, and it is possible some red hot discussions will be heard before the question is settled.—New York to Green: "Cables wheat firm and less disposition to sell; weather unsettled." CHICAGO, July 11.—Wheat opened steady and held for the moment, 3 but the pressure to seil was too great for the small demand. August soling down to 85c in consequence. The market hung around 89c for some time, and market and caught the crowd short. After a small advance very strong cables arrived which intimidated the bears and up the price with intimidated the bears and up the price with intimidated the bears and up the price with intimidated the bears and up the price of the builts. The home situation is improving dally, but the reports from abroad regarding the continued bad weather and unfavorable crop reports stop all short selling by local bears.

Corn has been a monotonous deal to-day. August fluctuating only a 1/2 cent. The advance limited by the selling by local bears.

The Remance of a Refined Woman Who Married a Country Clown.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 11 .-- The death of an inmate of the Chenago County Alms-house brings to a close a strange and interesting life story. The maiden name of the decease was Amanda Townsend, and she was born and reared in New York City, where he nearest of kin, the Townsends and Colgates are people of wealth and high standing. As a nearest of kin, the Townsends and Coigates, are people of wealth and high standing. As a child she received all the advantages of education in books and training in social accomplishments that influence could procure for her, and to these nature added rare personal charms. While she was yet in her teens her hand was sought in marriage by a young man whom she favored, but who failed to be acceptable to her parents. She was sent to kichfield Springs to spend the summer and probably to separate her from her lover, and while there was informed that he on whom she had fixed her affections had proved faithless and renounced her. She laid the blame of her disappointment in love on her parents and friends and in a fit of anger and spite she eloped with and married an ignorant and uncouth young fellow, named Harvey Deyo, who had been doing menial jobs around her boarding house at the Springs, and with whom she had struck up a chance acquaintance.

The elopement made a stirring sensation for a time. The ill-matched pair went to the vicinity of the husband's native place in Chenago County, and in a lonely spot, on the side of the mountain between Oxford and Coventry, they built a small rude cabin which they occupied for nearly a score of years thereafter as a home. At first the young wife's relatives used every possible inducement and entreaty to persuade to forsake her spouse and coarse and uncongenial surroundings and return to a home of refinement and ease, but all efforts in this direction were unavailing and ultimately abandoned. Whatever may have inspired her course, whether conjugal affection or pride, or resentment at supposed wrongs, the educated and refined woman accepted isolation and poverty and stuck by the side of the uncouth rustic she had chosen for a husband to the last. The final separation came in the county Aims-house, to which the pair had been removed in a sick and helpless condition from their cabin on the mountain side. Her kindred in the city, shocked to hear that she had become a charge upon publ

This elegant picture represents a young lady standing in a beautiful room, surrounded by all that is luxurious, near a half-open door, while the young man, her lover, is seen in an adjoining room asking the consent of her parents for their daughter in marriage. The fine interior decorations, together with the graceful position of the beautiful girl is in keeping with the sentiment of the picture. It must be seen to be appreciated. This starch is something entirely new, and is without a doubt the greatest starch invention of the nineteenth century (at least everybody says so that have used it). It superseds everything heretofore used or known to science in the laundry art. Unlike any other starch, as it is coated with pure white wax and chemically prepared upon scientific principles by an expert in the laundry profession, who has had years of practical experience in fancy laundrying. It is the first and only starch in the world that makes ironing easy and restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a beauful and lasting finish. ful and lasting finish.

AN IMPORTANT IOWA DECISION.

A Saloon-Keeper Compelled to Discontinue Business, Pending an Appeal.

BURLINGTON, Io., July 11 .- A decision of more than ordinary importance and involving a new point under the prohibitory liquor law of Iowa has been rendered by Judge Phelps of the District Court. Two years ago a saloon-keeper whose place of business was enjoined as a nuisance, appealed to the Iowa Supreme Court, and after filing a supersedeas bond, continued the traffic. The injunction was sustained, and the saloon-keeper again gave bond, carried his case to the United States Supreme Court where it not likely to be reached for a year or two yet. Recently proceedings were brought to have him strested and fined for contempt of court in continuing the illegal traffic, notwithstanding the injunction. His defense was that pending the decision of the Federal Court the injunction did not apply, but the District Court now decides that the injunction must stand and that the saloon must close. The saloon-keeper at once closed up and others will follow suit, as they admit that further resistance to the law is useless. of Iowa has been rendered by Judge Phelps

MUNICIPAL ASSEMBLY.

Bills Passed With Little Debate in an Effort to Clear the Docket.

At the meeting of the City Council last even ing a number of public improvement bills were passed. The Union avenue and Forest were passed. The Union avenue and Forest Park bill, proyiding for some changes in the route, was ordered printed, and the Council adjourned until Friday evening, when it will be considered further.

In the House of Delegates last evening the bill providing for the sale of poil-books was defeated by a party vote. A resolution to grant the Uable & Western Co. a permit to cross Grand avenue near Morgan was laid over for further consideration at another time. The resolution to adjourn July 17 until November 13 was passed. The bills for the improvement of the eleemosynary institutions were passed unanimously. The House adjourned to meet Friday evening.

Prevent Him Working—The Trade With Kansas City Denied—A Prize Fight Between Two Actresses-Sporting News-Turf Matters-Base Ball Gossip.

The affair of O'Neill and Byrne as printed in yesterday's Post-Disparch created much comment about the city last night. In fact, O'Neill and O'Neill's work in the field have been the talk of the town for some days past. Public sentiment on the matter is divided. Some think that O'Neill has been wronged in the charges made against him to the effect has been playing for his while others are of the opinion that the censures have been correct O'Neill himself has said nothing about the

The Browns won the game yesterday in the same inning by the batting of the Brooklyns and the errors of St. Louis. The batteries were King and Milligan for St. Louis and Caruthers and Bushong for Brooklyn. St. Louis scored 4 runs, 8 hits and 6 errors. Brooklyn scored 5 runs 9 hits and 5 errors.

Manager Barnie of the Baltimores arrived in the city this morning and is stopping at the Lindell. Brooklyn will probably drop two out of four games in Kansas City. Ferguson remains in St. Louis.

Duniap has had the bandage removed from his face. He is getting along nicely and will probably play in three or four days. Just as soon as Anson bets a suit of clothes with a man he gives the order to the tailor and has the fun of wearing the rig all summer.

Ex-President Stearns of the Detroit Club has become a skiliful lawn tennis player. It is said that he is training for a m atch with Al Spalding, and Stearns will win too. Whatever he does, he does well.

he does, he does well.

The American Association scheme of double umpires with one player from each club was not a glittering success at Kansas City, and it won't be anywhere else. It will be a case of dog eat dog from the start.

Sam Barkley, manager of Kansss City, wrote President Von der Ahe this morning to the effect that his team would play the Browns two postponed games in St. Louis July 16 and 20. Their series will be five games instead of three.

20. Their series will be five games instead of three.

The O'Neill-Barkley matter is a dead-openand-shut fake. Not the first word has ever been passed between the two clubs for O'Neill's release to Kansas City. In fact, Sam Barkley is manager of Kansas City and he would not be transferred for any money.

Latham met President Von der Ahe yesterday on Grand avenue. The third baseman was criving a bay stepper to a polished bugyy.

'Ahl Mr. Von der Ahe, 's ald he, ''I am going out for a bit of a ride. You'll excuse me from practice this morning.' The 'boss president' smiled and said nothing.

A New York exchange says: Clarkson is still very much dissatisfied with not receiving a portion of the money paid by Boston for his release. The Boston pitcher, while negotiations were pending, offered President Spaiding $7,500 for his release, but the Chicago mogul wanted the whole ple, and he got it. When the Saginaws released Clarkson they gave him $1,000 of the amount received.

Comiskey and Ferguson had a brief tilt yesterday when Foutz followed Pinckney with a hit to Comiskey, King covering first base. If ever a runner was out that runner was Foutz.

"Not out," said the umpire. "What!" said Comiskey. "Not out," repeated Ferguson.

"Well, I say he was," replied the captain.

"Well, I thought so," yelled Ferguson.

"Well, I didn't, "said the captain, and then the talk stopped.

At Spink quotes Mr. Byrne of Brookly thus in describing the Fourth of July game at Cincinnati: "Then, 'twas night. The clouded canopy o'erhung the world, the vivid light-nings flashed their flery darts upon the earth, the deep-toned thunder rolled along the vaulted sky. The rain poured down. And Umpire McQuaid fined Reilly 225, Carpenter 225, Viau 225 and Baldwin 235. The game, however, was lost to Brooklyn."

The management of the Pittsburg Ball Club is threatened with boycott by members of unions, owing to Singer, Nimick & Co. starting up their mill with non-union men, the belief being that President Nimick of the base ball club is a member of the firm. Prominent Knights of Labor agitators discussed the movement Friday night and advocated a boycott, but decided to wait before taking decisive action. President Nimick says he is not a member of the iron firm, and that he never has been. He also claims to be in favor of labor organizations, and will employ none but union men.

This item has been on its travels for some time: "Buck Ewing is charged with having purposely dropped a ball four times in the Philadelphia series in order to improve his record of 'assists' and build up Counor's 'put outs.' Poor 'Buck.' What will he be charged with next? Just now he is exciting the ire of several scribes in various cities because he is hustling to win games for New York. He was accused of 'working the umpire' in Detroit. Horrible thought! What a crime! 'Buck' is paid several thousands per annum for winning games of ball, and he is trying hard to esta his money. If 'Buck' found an umpire he could 'work' and didn't do it he wouldn't be much of a captain. They are hunting for files on Ewing, but can't find them, even with the reportorial microscope." 'Is there any probability of your every captaining the New York Club again?' was asked of Ward the other day.

'No, I do not think there is, and, what's more, I do not want the position. I wanted my release this season, but John B. Day would not give it to me. I am still anxious for it, and Mr. Day has half promised to let me go at the close of the season. I want to remain about another season on the diamond field. My idea is to get hold of a good club and put some of my ideas into effect. I am confident that they are right, but thus far I have had no opportunity to prove it. Still the world moves, and I can note some progress to some of my ideas. Let me try the captaining and give me exclusive control of a good club for a year, and if I cannot increase their efficiency it is because my theory is wrong.'

Chicago Turf News.

A dispatch from Chicago gives the following bits of turf gossip about the meeting there:
Ed Corrigan started nothing at the presen Ed Corrigan started nothing at the present meeting, and will not do so. He had a till with the management last year, but whether that prompted the non-appearance of his horses this season is unknown to outsiders. His animals are quartered at the West Side track, and will participate in the meeting which commences there ten days from now. The stable is not a strong one this year, but is probably strong enough to pay expenses in the sort of company that will run at the West Side. Corrigan will be one of the three managers of the meeting, and they expect to make considerable money out of the venture.

The big King Ban colt Jaubert, an unreliable performer, won a selling race last week, beating Birthday and others. He was run up from $500 to $1,400, at which figure he was purchased by R. Tucker, whose horse, Birthday, ran second. He started since, a hot favorite, but was beaten off, not getting a place. Speculators are ordinarily airaid to touch bim.

Baldwin's stake winnings here are considerble more than those of all others put together. The Californian has almost uniformly been quite successful here since the inaugaral meeting, and this time he will be more successful than ever. His great colt, the Emperor of Norfolk, has won a small fortune for him already, and if he does not go amiss is likely to add considerably to it before the season closes. By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH. BUFFALO, N. Y., July 11 .- Two well-dressed young women, and several men met yester-day afternoon at the restaurant of Napoleon Preneyan, on Main street to make arrange ments for a prize fight. The principals were Hattle Leslie who is doing a club-swinging act comic. The articles of agreement signed were comic. The articles of agreement signed were as follows: "We hereby sigree to fight a fair stand-up prize fight with skin-tight gloves according to the new rules of the London prize ring, to take place between August 20 and 27, place to be agreed on August 20. the fight to be for $500 a side and the championship of the world. The fight is to take place within 100 miles of Buffaio. Half the stakes are herewith posted, the remainder to be put up August 20." the stakes are herewith posted, the remainder to be put up August 20."

Hattie Leslie is 20 years old, 5 feet 7 inches tail, weighs 180 pounds and is muscular and weil developed. She is a boxer of unusual ability, and has knocked out pretty fair fighters in practicing with them. She is a good looking brunette and does not look tough. Hattle has been in athletic training since she was a child. Alice Leary is six feet tall, 24 years old, weighs 180 pounds, and is also a brunette. She is very handy with her fists, and is quarrelsome. She has not as much science as her opponent, but is more of a slugger. Her backer is Jack Kehoe, a Bradford sport. She will be trained by Kehoe and Charley Dwyer, and is to be put through a regular course. Hattle Leslie will not go into training immediately because her club swinging requires that she keep in good physical condition.
